

Calcium and Vitamin D supplements don't lower cholesterol (CBS 19 Tyler) (cholesterol information)

Contributed by Webmaster

More info...

Calcium and VitaminD supplements may not do a whole lot for you if you're trying to lower your cholesterol.

Obama suffering from high cholesterol (People's Daily)

&$ &$U.S. President Barack Obama, surrounded by health care personnel, speaks about healthcare reform from the East Room of the White House in Washington March 3, 2010. (Xinhua/Reuters Photo)&$ &$ President Obama is said to suffering from high cholesterol, but despite this doctors say his health is generally good. The Commander in Chief underwent his first medical checkup since becoming ...

Cholesterol Drugs May Fight Asthma, Too (WebMD)

A study shows statin drugs -- used to lower cholesterol -- may also improve lung function in asthma patients.

Calcium and vitamin D may not cut cholesterol (Reuters via Yahoo! News)

People looking to improve their heart health by lowering their cholesterol levels won't find help from calcium and vitamin D supplements, according to a new study.